Contributor Permission Form – “Eighth in the East” Oral History Recording Programme

Eighth in the East (EITE) is a three-year Heritage Lottery funded programme of archaeology, oral history and museum development which will keep alive the momentous story of what’s become known as the ‘friendly invasion’ of the Second World War.

Recordings of oral histories are integral to the project’s aim of documenting the impact of the United States 8th Army Air Force in the East of England. Your recorded interview will become a resource for heritage organisations as chosen by EITE and the Norfolk Record Office, the project partner with oversight of the oral history part of the project. All material (including recorded interviews, photographs and any other items), or copies thereof, will be preserved as a permanent public reference resource for use in research, publication, education, lectures, broadcasting and the internet. After the end of the Eighth in the East project, copyright will be transferred to the Norfolk Record Office, who will either retain the copyright or transfer it to another more appropriate heritage institution.

Declaration: I, the Interviewee confirm that I consented to take part in the recording and hereby assign to the Eighth in the East Project (and their successor bodies) all copyright in my contribution for use in all and any media. I understand that this will not affect my moral right to be identified as the ‘performer’ in accordance with the Copyright, Design and Patents Act 1988.

If you do not wish to assign your copyright to the Eighth in the East, do not want your name in the public domain, or you wish to limit public access to your contribution for a period of years or for specific purposes, please state these conditions here (continue on reverse if necessary):
